June News

Reading

We are continuing to practice blending and reading words up to 7 letters. We are focusing more on memorizing Level 2 sight words and reading word family words (cat, bat, rat, sat, etc). We are reviewing all literacy skills learned this year. We will be working on some fun activities to get ready for summer. Starting June 5th, we will have a balloon pop countdown where we pop one balloon a day. Each balloon is filled with a fun activity for the following day! Each Friday, we meet with our third grade reading buddies!

Writing

We will be reviewing all types of writing that we learned this year including narrative, informational, and opinion writing. Students will be working on expanding sentences to include more detail and also using rhyme and word families to spell words. In addition, we will do some writing for graduation about things we've learned this year and favorite memories.

Math

We are reviewing most skills learned over the course of the year. One new skill we will focus on this month is measurement. We will be playing lots of math games to review skills learned throughout the year!

Reminders

There will be more information about graduation sent home soon. Please check your child's behavior chart every night and discuss it with them. If you choose to bring your child back for field day on June 16th, you MUST stay with them the entire time.

Highlights for the month: We have started practicing for graduation and are very excited for the ceremony!
