 Math -
Agostinelli

 Celebrations

We are starting the new year with a new topic: Using Models and Strategies to Divide Whole Numbers! Students will build on their initial investigations of division from fourth grade to extend their understanding of how division works. They will focus on patterns this week to articulate relationships between place value and division.

 Science/SS - Yau

 Star of the Week

Science: Patterns of Earth and Sky Unit:

We are starting a new unit called Modeling Matter: The Chemistry of Food. Students are invited to think about the kinds of work that food scientists do. Then, students write their initial explanations about why two different substances mixed into two separate containers of the same liquid behaved differently.

315 Science Meets DAILY from 11:00 AM - 11:30 AM

Social Science:

We will be working on Studies Weekly - Wk10: Sources. Students will be learning about how to examine and identify primary and secondary sources. They will also analyze history from multiple perspectives.

315 Science meets DAILY from 1:45 PM - 2:15 PM
